Counties to receive funding for road safety improvement projects

Projects in 16 counties will receive a combined total of approximately $4.5 million in funding to improve safety on rural roads across the state as part of the Kansas Department of Transportation's High Risk Rural Roads (HRRR) program.

Counties sent in applications for this program from November 2018 to the end of January, with projects selected earlier this month. The funds are for Federal Fiscal Year 2021.

Projects in this program fall into one of two categories - Systemic or Site Specific. Projects in the Systemic category are 100 percent federally funded and aren't required to provide a match. Site Specific projects are 90 percent federally funded, and a county contributes up to 10 percent of the project cost.

The county, category, amount awarded and brief description for the 16 projects receiving funds in FFY 2021 are shown below:

Atchison Systemic $238,000
Complete the remaining 30 miles of sign upgrades on various RS Routes
