Example of Excellence

Congratulations to members of the KDOT Pollinator Promoter Team for being selected as the Example of Excellence for the second quarter of 2017. The team worked together to promote awareness of monarchs and other pollinators and assist in efforts to enhance vegetation management practices. Team members also planted more than 1,100 milkweed plugs near the Homewood rest area along I-35. Included in the team photo are, from left to right, first row, Secretary Richard Carlson, Melissa Davidson, Bruce Myers, Scott Shields, Larry Thompson; second row, Shaestian Argo, Robin Durand, Cliff Ehrlich, Chris Eichman, Tim Farquhar, Kevin Ryan, Robert Stork; third row, Wayne Gudmonson, Ricky Conner, Kent Badders, Danielle Brunin, Earl Barnett, Joseph Hazen, Kirby Alexander and Ben Vanderford. Not pictured are Greg Hoggatt and James Lewis.

Kansas State Fair

State fair: The 2017 Kansas State Fair marks the 25th consecutive year KDOT has participated in the annual event to help educate and serve the public. This year's fair will run from Sept. 8-17 and attracts about 335,000 attendees annually. Records show that KDOT had a booth at various times until 1976. In 1993, Anita Helt, former Chief of the Public Affairs Office, thought it was important for KDOT to have a presence at the state fair again. Informational Specialist Kim Stich in Topeka and Senior Engineering Technician John Wiens in the District Five Office worked together the first year and have been working on it together ever since.

The first two years, Wiens drove a minivan up to pick up supplies for the booth. That quickly was increased to a dump truck to hold up to 120 cases of state maps, thousands of promotional items and various brochures. It takes six to 10 KDOT staff up to three days to unload the supplies, set up backdrops and prepare for visitors. The KDOT booth has always been in the Eisenhower Building, but it has moved to four different booth locations. It started as a 10-foot by 10-foot booth with little storage. Boxes of supplies had to be brought to the booth each morning. After several years, a safety booth was added and the booths moved to a 20-foot by 15-foot location with storage included behind.

During those 25 years, five Governors of Kansas have served as well as five District Engineers in District Five. The times may change, but the commitment to the Kansas State Fair remains strong.

“Over these 25 years, operating the KDOT Kansas State Fair booth has become a proud tradition of District Five,” said District Engineer Brent Tierstriep. “Numerous District staff members, ranging from Shop Mechanics, Engineering Technicians, Equipment Operators, various office staff to District Engineers have manned the booth to interact with the public, represent the agency, answer questions and help people learn about KDOT.”

Stich agreed with Tierstriep. “Bottom line - our KDOT booth is successful because of all the dedicated District Five employees,” she said.

Historical display:

KDOT retiree John Meyer collected a variety of historical artifacts while he was overseas during World War II and has many of his own from that time as well. He also has many stories of his experiences while serving in the 1st Infantry Division of the Army and has written a book titled, "Reflections of a Dogface."

All these items will be on display starting Sept. 20 in the Reference Room of the State Archives at the Kansas Historical Society in Topeka. To celebrate the opening of this display, a reception will take place at 2 p.m. that day in the Reference Room.

Meyer served from March 1943 to January 1946. His uniform jacket, with all his medals, is one of the display items. A few of the medals include Bronze Star Recipient, Purple Heart Recipient, Presidential Unit Citation, Combat Infantryman Badge, Army of Occupation Medal, WW II Victory Pin and the Good Conduct Award.

He received the Purple Heart when he was injured in November 1944 trying to take a town named Langerwehe - they experienced heavy mortar fire and a shell fragment went through his left shoulder. Because of this injury, Meyer said he was not in the Battle of the Bulge that took place the next month.

"It was an honor to do serve my country, but there were times I'm not too sure it was healthy," he said. He also went to Nuremburg to build a model of the courthouse to make sure they would have room for everyone since there were people from four different countries attending the trials, Meyer said.

Meyer went to the University of Kansas after returning,

"and the next Monday after I graduated in summer 1949, I went to work for KDOT. I already had the job lined up in the Planning Department."

He worked in other bureaus and retired as the Urban Engineer in the Bureau of Local Projects in 1987.

Kudos

Dear Lisa Knoll (District Six Public Affairs Manager):

Hello! My name is Ken Croy and we met at the Liberal Fair. I was telling you how I travel around with my job and stay in Hutchinson. Anyway, I wanted to say thank you for the awesome job that you and your staff are doing on the roads in Kansas. The project on east U.S. 54 is going to be a very nice addition along with the stretch north of Sublette. People always complain about construction however do not realize the awesome job and all of the hard work that goes into making our state a better state.

Hope all is going well for you and that you will have an awesome day and a fantastic week!

Email received - I stopped here yesterday and was extremely impressed by the overall quality. The bathroom was immaculate; no dirt in the corners, toilets spotless, floor clean. I know that this is probably not a new facility, which makes it even more impressive. The grounds were well maintained, and dog areas clearly marked. Local radio feature a nice touch. I drive through many states, and this area stood out. Please pass my thanks along to the maintenance crew, and the Rain or Shine Cleaning Service of Grainfield.

Phone call - The Public Affairs Office in Topeka received a call on Aug. 31 from Jessica Bird thanking some of our KDOT staff for helping her out. She was driving near Ingalls and got a flat tire. She called AAA, but they couldn't find her, and a couple of KDOT employees stopped to help her. She said they were Dodge City employees Justin Ohman, Equipment Operator Trainee, and Rod Davis, Equipment Operator Specialist. They were friendly and professional and had her tire changed out in 10 minutes. She also sent in this photo above later that day.

Kansas Transportation

Motoring Monday

The International Pancake Day Hall of Fame, located in Liberal, commemorates the internationally known Pancake Race, which happens every year on Shrove Tuesday in February.

The racing competition was initiated in 1950 between Liberal and Olney, England, and centers on women running down town streets while flipping pancakes, simultaneously in each city.

In addition to the pancake race, the town of Liberal also hosts pancake eating contests, flipping contests, a parade and other festivities.

The Hall of Fame was created in 2005 and is dedicated to preserving the history of Pancake Day through the years.

It serves as the headquarters for the acclaimed event on Shrove Tuesday. The Hall of Fame is also used as a gathering place for community events and educational purposes.

This facility operates by appointment only, but International Pancake Day is open to everyone. Visit International Pancake Day to learn more.

Crawford County is considered the Fried Chicken Capital of Kansas and dubbed one of the 8 wonders of Kansas Cuisine. Since 1930, Crawford County has been known for these six restaurants serving up hearty plates of delicious fried chicken and Frontenac Bread, which is served with every meal.

Chicken Annie's Original, Pittsburg.

Chicken Annie's was founded in 1934 by Annie Pichler. The restaurant has been passed down through generations of the Pichler family.

Chicken Mary's, Pittsburg.

What started as a hobby became a business when Mary Zerngast, a German Immigrant, initiated Chicken Mary's in 1945. It continues to be owned and operated by the Zerngast family.

Gebhardt's Chicken and Dinners, Mulberry.

Ted Gebhardt, an Army veteran, started up Gebhardt's in 1942 with his wife, Meg.

Barto's Idle Hour, Frontenac.

Ray Barto launched his restaurant in the 1950s and became known for hosting polka band performances at his restaurant.

National Award

National awards: KDOT's Public Affairs Office was recognized recently with a national award from the Skills Contest sponsored by TransComm, AASHTO's Subcommittee on Transportation Communications.

KDOT was awarded first place in the Graphic Design/Illustration category for, "Oh Deer! A Love Story about Improving Driving Safety." Communication Specialist Mallory Goeke created an illustrated story to educate readers about driving during rut season. The story highlights safety tips and reminders of when deer are typically seen, what drivers should do if they encounter a deer and where they are most active. The story can be read here.

The agency also received runner-up award in a publication category for the 2017 Annual Report, which highlighted KDOT's work and accomplishments last year.

The Skills Contest honors the work of public relations groups from DOT's across the country. The TransComm committee provides information throughout the year to DOT's on ways to improve communication and has an annual conference where Skills Contest winners are announced.
